WHO IS ELIGIBLE TO RECEIVE CHILD SUPPORT SERVICES?

- Custodial or non-custodial parents
- Current and former recipients of K-TAP and public medical assistance
- Individuals with child support orders
- Individuals with medical support orders
- Individuals who want to establish child support or medical support orders

Paternity must be established for your child/children before a child support obligation is determined. Contact the Fayette County Child Support Office for a free Non-Public Assistance application.

WHAT INFORMATION IS NEEDED TO ESTABLISH CHILD SUPPORT?

- Non-custodial parent's address
- Social security number
- Date of birth
- Employer contact information
- Bank account numbers
- Property holdings and investments

If you can provide the non-custodial parent's date of birth, father's name, and mother's maiden name, the child support agency may be able to obtain information from the following:

- Social Security Administration
- Internal Revenue Service
- Veterans' Administration
- Department of Defense
- Armed Forces and the Selective Service Administration

The child support agency can obtain information from all state and federal files if you provide the non-custodial parent's social security number. Be aware, however, that finding a non-custodial parent through these sources may take several months.

HOW DO I APPLY FOR CHILD SUPPORT SERVICES?

Services are automatically provided to current or former recipients of K-TAP and public medical assistance.

If public assistance is not being received, you must complete a child support application for ALL services provided by child support enforcement. A paper application is available when requested. Our child support lobby provides this packet.

You can also apply for child support services on-line. Start the application process at the following website:
